WONDERGLASS

Part of the Gaïa collection, Aura explores radiance through precision and subtle complexity. Windows incised into the hand-blown glass reveal inner spatial depth, inviting to look through rather than at the object. Above, directional light sources act like sunbeams, projecting light through and around the form to produce shifting refractions and vibrant, immersive effects. The result is both architectural and poetic, turning the object into a quiet study of light, space, and perception.

Numbered edition.

Aura is sold both as single lighting fixture and as an installation.

For future production, atelier oï will develop a bespoke creative proposal.
