WONDERGLASS

Wonder celebrates the transformative potential of cast glass, light, and colour. The triptych installation features transparent glass droplets, scooped and poured directly from the furnace, forming organic, freeform shapes that retain the vitality of their molten origins. Suspended individually, the droplets come alive as light passes through them, shifting subtly across shades and creating a fluid, immersive display. Designed to evoke reflection and contemplation, the work encourages viewers to engage with its presence rather than question its making.

Numbered edition, originally presented in a triptych.

For future production, Paul Cocksedge Studio will develop a bespoke creative proposal.
